TUNDRA is a single from the album "tajga" produced by Amaury Cambuzat (Ulan Bator, Faust) completed in September 2009 by the British label Acid Cobra Records, co-produced by DeAmbula Records and I Dischi del Minollo, distributed in Italy by Venus.

The video was shot in Scotland in November by the designer/photographer/filmmaker Tobias Feltus, and has been in circulation on Youtube and major Italian Web TV and satellite networks from January.

Tobias Feltus is best known in the industry for having worked with bands such as Aereogramme and Lord Cut Glass through Chemikal Underground Records (Scottish label run by the ex-Delgados who have launched bands such as Mogwai, Arab Strap and Interpol). Apart from many photographic exhibitions around Europe, he also has the production of Solo Duets [2005] on his curriculum, which won the Jim Poole award for Best Short Film, Best Short Film at the Festival Du Cinema Italien at the Espace Cardin in Paris, and Best Animation at the Krakow International Film Festival.

With Tundra The Marigold pick up the essence of mysterious scenarios, full of symbolism and melancholy, and ideal to carry you through an ethereal journey, with an undoubted predisposition for the internal issues that are constantly visible in Tobias Feltus' piece. Feltus' post-divisionism fuses with The Marigold's avant/post-rock, breaking free from the classic guise of the 'music video', succeeding in integrating a song and a short film that carries its melancholy in a cyclical manner, and without making direct reference to the band's notes.
